

Church Missions Team & Emphasis Example

One possible way to develop or improve a Missions Team and enhance Missions Emphasis:

Once you select your Missions Team Members, start by doing a global missions small group study together and structure your Missions Team with specific roles and responsibilities (below), come up with a church-wide strategy, communicate it effectively in all age groups of the church, then provide ways for your folks to learn and engage.

Possible Roles & Responsibilities for Team Members

Team Leader – casts vision and provides oversight.

Secretary – takes meeting notes and helps the team leader with communication.

Missions Prayer Coordinator—leads/encourages missions prayer efforts; communicates needs to the church family, including prayer for IW requests, cross-cultural ministry opportunities, unreached people groups, the persecuted Church, and other Alliance ministries and initiatives.

Missions Education Coordinator—develops/oversees educational venues to teach the church a biblical perspective on missions, what missions are, and Alliance IWs and outreach.

Missions Awareness/Event Coordinator—oversees the church's local/global cross-cultural awareness and events throughout the year.

Global Partnership Champion—facilitates relational connections between the IW/region, church leadership, and the congregation, as well as the integration of partnership activities within the church.

Great Commission Women's President/Representative—serves the missionary interest of the women in your church.

Men's Ministry President/Representative—serves the missionary interest of the men in your church.

Youth Representative—acts as liaison to and is a creative voice for the church's teenagers.

Children's Representative - acts as liaison to and is a creative voice for the church kids.

Missionary Treasurer—provides financial oversight and helps administer missions-related giving.
